Tier 1 leverage capital and total risk-based capital are measures of a bank's financial strength. San Luis Valley Federal Bank's capital positions in both areas far exceed what the minimum standards are required by government regulations. During our 123 years of doing business in the San Luis Valley, we've built one of the strongest capital positions of any banking company in the state of Colorado. We are a mutual company supported by our member-depositors. Our financial strength instills the trust in our members that the bank will be here to serve them long into the future.
